

THEY ENJOYED THE SCENE

The Falmouth Outlook says: "Uncle Tom Keller, roadmaster of the Paris Division of the L. & N., said he had often heard of Pinkie Smalley and her striped stockings and to get a peep at them hanging on the clothes line, he stopped off with his old friend, Capt. Jack Crowe, and took dinner at the Hotel d'Crowe. After dinner he and Capt. Jack lit their pipes and sat in the hotel door and watched them swinging in the air."

WEATHER REPORT PREDICTS EARLY HARVEST

The Weather Bureau office has issued the following summary of weather and crop conditions in Kentucky for the week ending June 7: "The temperature continued high during the first half of the week but was unseasonably low during the last half. There were only a few local showers and rain is badly needed in all parts of the State. In general wheat made satisfactory progress, although the rainfall has been insufficient for proper filling of the heads and the heat has unduly hastened maturity. Harvest began in the southern counties about June 10. "Late planted corn is coming up, but dry soil is delaying a germination and growth. The condition of corn is generally satisfactory, but good rains are necessary to start it to growing properly. Oats are heading short and will be seriously injured unless rains are necessary to start it to growing properly. Oats are heading short and will be seriously injured unless rain comes soon. Early potatoes have been injured considerably but will be helped by rain. The strawberry crop has been much curtailed by the dry weather. "Very little tobacco was transplanted. Plants are becoming large, while this work still awaits rain."

BASE BALL NOTES

The Cynthia High School baseball team lost the Central Kentucky championship to the Mt. Sterling High School team at Mt. Sterling Friday, by a score of 10 to 1. A large crowd witnessed the game. The winning club, which has lost only two contests, was presented with a handsome silver loving cup by the Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce. Patrons of the national game who visited the Second street ball park Sunday were rewarded by witnessing a good game, though somewhat one-sided in the matter of score, when the Paris Ruggles team defeated the Winchester team by the score of 12 to 3. Caparoni and Berryman presided on the hurling and receiving stations for Paris, and with a good support behind them made every play count. The Winchester team put up a game struggle, but the odds were against them, and they went down in defeat, but with the knowledge that they had put up a brave fight.

The Paris Ruggles team will play the Maysville team on the local grounds next Sunday afternoon. The Maysville team has been putting up a fine article of the national game through the season, and patrons of the game may be assured of having a good run for their money when play is called.

MAYOR JANUARY CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION TO OFFICE

In this issue of THE NEWS Mayor E. B. January, who is just rounding out three and one-half years of his first term as Mayor of Paris, announces his candidacy for re-election to that office.

Mayor January has made an excellent official, with an eye always out for the best interest of the city, and of the taxpayers of the city. In seeking the Democratic nomination for the office Mayor January does so with a distinct appreciation of the trials and tribulations of the past, and makes the solemn assertion, that, if elected, he will give the same time and energy to the city's affairs as have marked his incumbency in the past.
